DECREASE IN EXPORTS

Report Shows Nearly $110,-000,000 Less for Year Just Ended Than Previous Twelve Months.

Washington. July 12—The usual minimal policy of exports of domestic breadsurfs, meat and dairy products, food animals, cotton and mineral oils from the United States was completed by the bureau of states was completed by t Washington. July 12.—The usual monthly statement of exports of donestic breadstuffs, meat and dairy products, food animals, cotton and mineral oils from the United States was completed by the bureau of statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor Saturday. It shows hat the exports for the twelve months ended with June, 1909, were valued at nearly $110,000,000 less than the value of exports for the twelve

The State Department in the note of wo weeks ago expressed its regret hat this course had been followed by the Cuban government and said by the Cuban government and said that in the future it would please the United States Government if opportunity was given American manufacturers to furnish Cuba with supplies. There is no doubt that President Gomes's annulment of the foreign contracts is due to the representations from the Department of State here.

ONE EFFECT OF THE DROUTH One of the most serious effects of the prolonged drouth is manifested in the pastures. Growing crops can be tided over the water-shortage by cultivation, which tends to conserve moisture, but pastures—and hay fields as well—must plod along on what nourishment they can coax out of the unusually dry earth. Forehanded farmers have a solling crop growing to overcome this sort of season. This forehanded class represent only a small percentage of the great body. If the drouth continues, the milk supply will be greatly jeopardized.

THE BLIND SENATOR (Boston Transcript.)

(Boston Transcript.)

A splendid example of accomplishment in the face of a serious misfortune is afforded by Thomas P. Gore, the blind Senator from Oklahoma. His success in speech-making naturally occasioned no surprise; but his skill in repartee and his readiness to furnish off-hand information when asked for; and the exactness with which he quotes any challenged passage from the classics, evokes admiration. His memory is not only prodigious on the hings which he has set out to acquire for formal delivery in the Senate, but it seems equally good with the much srger fund of material which he seems in have in stock to be brought out whenever it is called for. If an opponent makes a remark which invites a reply Gore is almost as likely to have the facts and figures with him as with something on which he has especially primed himself. It is said that he altoways knows where information can be found and then sets his secretary, or Mrs. Gore, to reading it to him; what he has once heard becomes his property. He possessed remarkable powers as a boy even before his infirmity overtook him, so that his achievements chanot all be accounted for by the extra concentration which his exclusion from the sights of the physical world has produced. His face is pleasing and erty. He possessed remarkable powers as a boy even before his infirmity overtook him, so that his achievements cannot all be accounted for by the extra concentration which his exclusion from the sights of the physical world appears decidedly more boyish than that of other men of thirty-nine. His primal selection seemed somewhat dd, perhaps characteristic of Oklatoms, but it is by no means clear that will pot prove of great usefulness the sepate. It is still a debating that the property of the province of Pittsburg, July 10.—Officers of the Amalgamated Association of Steel. Iron and Tin Workers have decided that their hope of victory in their strike against the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company's open shop order lies in organizing the non-union men in the trust plants that have not been affected by the strike. The American Pederation of Labor has given its aid and Emmet Flood and John A. Feet, thereal organizers, have left Washington and joined the Amalgamated officials say that not one of the several thousand men who went on strike has weakened, and that if they stand firm until a few more union plants are organized the trust will be unable to find skilled labor with which to open its mills as independent plants are taking advantage of conditions and opening their mills thus taking many men off the market. Independent owners are with the union. They can see that the fight is mill was a staking many men off the market. Independent owners are with the union. They can see that the fight is mill be offered a dramatic treat by the Poll All-Star Stock Company this week in "Leah Kleschna." will be the attraction at the people's play-house throughout this week commencing with the initial performance this afternoon. Miss Alice Fleming will have the role of Leah, the girl thief, who is regenerated by the love of a man, and Miss Fleming is expected to give probably the most talented performance of the stock season thus far. Mr. Ince as Paul Sylvanie will have wide latitude for the display of his dramatic stall to be the most powerful and intensely interesting drama of the century. "Leah Kleschna" will be the attraction at the people's play-house throughout this week commencing with the initial performance this afternoon. Miss Alice Fleming will have the role of Leah, the girl thief, who is regenerated by the love of a give probably the most talented performance of the stock season thus far. Mr. Ince as Paul Sylvanie will have the part full justice. Mr. Daily, Miss Allison, Mr. Townsend, Mr. Daily thus taking many men off the market. Independent owners are with the union. They can see that the fight is against them as well as against organized labor.

The men at Cambridge, O., are expected to strike tonight. The trusts made a pretense of reopening an abandoned plant in Pittsburg but with little success. Union officials expect that the trusts first move now will be to open in Elwood, Ind. It is customary to close mills in July and August, men being unable to stand the heat in those months, and many are idle because of the shut down.

The Amalgamated expects further that the trusts first move now will be to open in Elwood, Ind. It is customary to close mills in July and August, men being unable to stand the heat in those months, and many are idle because of the shut down.

The Amalgamated expects further help July 15 when the Tin Plate Protective Union will walk out of the trust plants. These are the men who do the coating of the plates. Their scale agreement with the trust expires July 15 and the trust has given notice of an open shop to them.

At the matinee performance this afternoon some lady patron will be presented with a handsome three-plece pongee silk suit now being shown in the display windows of the Laborde Company at Main and Cannon streets. Coupons for the award were distributed at the performances last week. It is essential that the holder of the winning coupon be in the auditorium when the number is called this afternoon, otherwise coupons will be drawn until the award is made.
